NEW ALBUM

Vórtex

Vórtex, The album being slowly “cooked” in Galicia, Ireland and Scotland will have special collaborations with famous musicians from the folk world and will continue down the experimental acoustic route as in the previous albums, Tirán and Confuxon. New compositions and surprising arrangements where Anxo, once again, takes the Galician bagpipes and whistles to their limit with his particular free-style on a quest for new sounds, rhythms and fusions.

Vórtex is the fourth studio album by Anxo Lorenzo and he is touring the best festivals of the European and American folk circuits.

The title of the album refers, in the words of the author, to "a transition from a more acoustic musical world to a more electronic one". "I think Vórtex reflects very well the artistic moment that I'm living as a bagpiper, taking the Galician bagpipe around the world and bringing new compositions, new fusions and new arrangements of Galician themes, also covered by a dream team."
